Colleagues,

This is a quick reminder that Dr. Kay McClenny, director of the Center for Community College Student Engagement, will make a presentation today about the role community colleges need to play so that today’s students can achieve their academic and professional goals.

The presentation will take place from 1:30-3 p.m. in the Amethyst Room at Downtown Campus, 1255 N. Stone Ave.

The presentation will be live-streamed to specific locations at each campus and facility. After the presentation, a video will be posted on the College’s website. The live-streaming locations:

- Community Campus, 401 N. Bonita Ave.: Room A-109
- Desert Vista Campus, 5901 S. Calle Santa Cruz: Room A-138
- District Office, 4905 E. Broadway: Room C-105 (Community/Board Room)
- East Campus, 8181 E. Irvington Road: Room L-101 (Community Room)
- Maintenance and Security, 6680 S. Country Club Road: Room MS-105
- Northwest Campus, 7600 N. Shannon Road: Room A-207 (Community Room)
- West Campus, 2202 W. Anklam Road: Room J-G05

Dr. Kay McClenny and Dr. Byron McClenny, program director for Achieving the Dream and co-chair of the 21st Century Initiative Developmental Education team, are visiting PCC to work with PCC teams redesigning our Developmental Education program. I encourage you to hear Dr. Kay McClenny’s insights on an important topic for PCC and the community.
