Colleagues,

I invite you to read the results of 2014’s College-wide Chancellor’s Cabinet Leadership Evaluation, and I wish to thank the 486 College employees who responded and expressed their opinions.

Please know that the members of the District Leadership Team and I welcome your opinions about this important administrative advisory group.

The survey results regarding Cabinet as a group, along with comments, have been shared with the Chancellor’s Operational Cabinet and the Governance Council.

As you may remember, the College conducted a Leadership Evaluation in 2013. The District Leadership Team will analyze the results of the two voluntary, self-selecting surveys to detect trends, and to identify areas of improvement and those areas that still need work.

A better understanding of Chancellor’s Cabinet by employees aligns with several of my goals for 2014-15, including improving and strengthening employee engagement, and restoring professionalism and confidence in the leadership and governance of PCC.

Assessing and strengthening our organizational structure and operations are essential to fulfilling the College’s mission to students and the community. Again, thanks to those who participated in the evaluation.

Lee D. Lambert,
Chancellor
